DDB Engineering, Inc. has prepared numerous permit applications and supporting documents for regulatory compliance for water, wastewater, and water recycling projects in California. Actual permits and regulatory compliance documents were prepared for approval by the regulatory agencies. Tentative permits from the agencies were reviewed on behalf of the owners.

Our permitting experience includes waste discharge permits, water recycling approvals, encroachment permits, planning approvals, grading and building permits, easements, land leases, 401 water quality certifications, water quality management plans and permits to construct/operate.
